The screenshot shows the MySQL Workbench interface for the 'Lucadb' database. The 'Tables' list on the left includes 'act_accounts'. The main window displays the table structure for 'act_accounts' with columns: acctKey, acctCode, acctTitle, acctHeaderDetail, acctDebitCredit, acctGroup, and acctParent. Below this, a query editor shows the table data with columns: acctKey, acctCode, acctTitle, acctHeaderDetail, acctDebitCredit, acctGroup, and acctParent. A red circle highlights the 'Q' button in the query editor.
